SUMMER 2015
PAID STUDENT INTERNSHIPS
For Addressing the Needs of Farmworkers in NYS

Would you like to be paid to work with the Cornell Farmworker Program while conducting research and educational outreach to address the needs of farmworkers in New York State?

Internship research topics may include:

- Conducting research to assess farmworker needs
- Providing on-farm workshops including: English as a Second Language, Chemical Safety, and Emergency Planning
- Surveying farmworker services and their usage
- Examining farmworker perspectives on labor issues
- Canvassing immigration concerns and developing relevant extension materials
- Examining mental health issues and approaches

Interns may be hosted by a range of local organizations.

TO APPLY for an INTERNSHIP:

- Set up a meeting with Mary Jo Dudley, Director of the Cornell Farmworker Program (farmworkers@cornell.edu), to discuss internship opportunities and your areas of interest. Please include possible meeting dates and times upon initial request.

See reverse for application instructions.

- Following first meeting, submit your resume (including name, local and home address, telephone number, and email address) with a cover letter outlining:
  - Area of interest (both topic and geographic interest)
  - Skills and strengths you will bring to the internship program
  - Proposed learning goals

- Provide three letters of recommendation using the CFP recommendation form.

- Submit a hard copy of your official transcript.

Submit CFP internship application materials by March 2, 2015 to:

Mary Jo Dudley
Director, Cornell Farmworker Program
Department of Development Sociology
181 Academic Surge B
Cornell University
Ithaca, NY 14853
(607) 254-5194